Dr. Einstein's Enemies: Abstemious Delegates: The Prince Giving Up Farming: Gliding Possibilities in The Future: Duke Of Gloucester As Best Man:
The "Victoria And Albert": Royal
Associations With Cowes

(Special Air-Mail Service)

Dr. Einstein Attacked.

London, August 1st.
Seeing that Dr. Einstein will talk of anything but politics, I was astonished to learn that among the piles of letters which reach him daily from Germany are many which beg him to stop his "atrocity campaign against Germany."

These appeals are the result of a recent broadcast by Capt. Goering, the Prussian Prime Minister, who threatened Jewish listeners that they would have to pay dearly for everything Einstein did.

In making Einstein a target for attack, his traducers show a strange psychological lapse, for if there is one man who has the whole world behind him it is Einstein.

He is certainly a most attractive personality—his winning smile and soft brown eyes giving a radiant illumination to his features.

The Thirst That Failed.

The delegates to the late World Conference were as abstemious lot. Apart from drinking only a very small proportion of the comprehensive store of wines, gathered from all the corners of the earth for their delectation, they did poorly in other directions.

De mortuis nil nisi bonum. But from June 13 to July 27 hundreds of delegates, secretaries and journalists only accounted for 10,000 lagers among them.

These liquids head the list. Then come 6,000 coffees, orange and lemon drinks to a combined number of 10,000; 2,100 gin-fizzes, and 1,700 whiskeys.

Oddments include 175 dozen syphons of soda water and 15 to 18 tons of ice.

Gliding Indefinitely.

Flight-Lieut. E. L. Mole, who has broken the British gliding duration record, held the previous record of 10 hrs. 10 min. This time, at Dunstable, he stayed up forty-five minutes longer—but not as long as he hoped.

I discussed the project with him a few weeks ago, and he told me that one could remain in the air in a glider indefinitely, provided conditions were favourable. He had hoped to beat the world record of 21 hrs. 50 min.

"I am going to wait until there is a prospect of a continuous westerly breeze," he added, "and stay up as long as it lasts."

Unluckily for him it died too soon. He is going to try again.

The Prince's Farm.

The Prince of Wales has decided to give up his Grove Farm, Lenton, in Nottinghamshire, and that his pedigree stock will be disposed of in the autumn.

Public engagements are making increasing demands on H.R.H., and very reluctantly, therefore, he feels obliged to limit his interests.

The Prince's decision to give up farming in Nottinghamshire will be much regretted by the farmers of the district, for his experiments in improving the Shorthorn class dairy-farming animal have been widely beneficial.

The progeny of the Lenton Shorthorn sires may be found in herds as far distant as America, Canada, and the Argentine.

His Canadian Ranch.

Grove Farm has been in the Prince's possession for some six years. It consists of 120 acres of the richest grazing land in the heart of the hunting country.

Despite rumours that the Prince may dispose of his ranch in Canada, he has no such intention at present. He will continue also his herd on the home farm at Stoke Climsland in the Duchy of Cornwall.

The difficulties with which breeders of pedigree stock have had to contend recently owing to the shortage of buyers have, of course, affected the Prince of Wales.

It will be recalled also that about eighteen months ago the King disposed of the larger part of his Herdsford on the Flemish farm at Windsor on account of the un-economic state of the farming industry. The farm made famous by the Prince Consort was handed over to the Commissioners for Crown Lands.

Prince Arthur of Connaught.

Prince Arthur of Connaught, chairman of the Middlesex Hospital, recently inspected the work on the frame of the final section of the new hospital buildings and met 130 of the workmen who have helped to build it.

In an address to the men Prince Arthur said that a gift of £25,000 had been made to the reconstruction scheme by Mr. W. H. Collins, chairman and managing director of Cerebos, Limited.

The Duke of Gloucester as Best Man.

The Duke of Gloucester attended as best man the marriage at St. Margaret's, Westminster, of Capt. E. W. Brook, his squer, to Miss Mary Gretton, younger daughter of Colonel John Gretton, M.P., and Mrs. Gretton.

Capt. Brook has accompanied the Duke of Gloucester on several big game hunting expeditions, and was his squer when he attended the Coronation of the King of Abyssinia.

The bride wore a dress of pearl-tinted silk lace, the skirt flowing out to form a train. Her veil of Brussels net was held by a coronet of orange blossom and pearls, and she carried a long spray of orchids. There were eight bridesmaids. The Bishop of Leicester officiated.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER REPORT, FORECAST AND REMARKS, ISSUED BY THE ROYAL OBSERVATORY, AT 5.30 P.M., STATED:—

The King and Queen embarked in her at Portsmouth, for she has recently undergone her periodical refit at Portsmouth dockyard.

The commanding officer is Vice-Admiral the Hon. Sir Herbert Mordaunt-Fetherstonhaugh, who served throughout the War in destroyers and was present at all the big actions in the North Sea. At Jutland he led the "M" division, handling it according to Admiral Jellicoe's despatch, "with conspicuous ability."

The Executive officer of the "Victoria and Albert" is Comdr. A. G. B. Wilson, who won the D.S.O. in the War, and the "pilot" is Comdr. O. L. Gordon.

Among other officers serving in the ship is Lieut.-Lord Hugh T. de la P. Beresford.

Cowes Week.

Royal interest in Cowes goes back a long way.

Even in the reign of Queen Elizabeth Cowes appealed to the amateur sea-going fraternity, and in 1888 the Queen had a boat built for pleasure sailing in the Channel.

The Royal Yacht Squadron has a history going back well over a hundred years, thanks mainly to the efforts of the first Earl of Yarborough, who with about fifty other owners of pleasure yachts formed in 1812 what was then known as the Yacht Club.

Royal Patronage.

Eight years after its institution it received sanction to use the prefix "Royal," and thereafter the association began to receive the patronage of Royalty, which has continued to this day.

King William IV, the Prince Consort, and King Edward—they all took a lively interest in the great festival, and that interest has been more than maintained by his present Majesty.

PROMOTION FOR SIR M. LAMPSON

HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR EGYPT

HIS MAJESTY THE KING has approved the appointment of Sir Miles Lampson, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Peking, to be His Commissioner for Egypt and Sudan.

Sir Miles Lampson, who entered the Foreign Office in 1903 and later held posts in Tokyo, Peking, Sofia and elsewhere, has been British Minister in China since 1928.

In 1921 he was attached to the British Delegation to the Washington Disarmament Conference, and in 1925 to the Locarno Conference.

The appointment to Cairo of a professional diplomat of such wide experience gives assurance that the cordial Anglo-Egyptian relations which have subsisted during the past four years will continue, and that the change at the Residency implies no change of British policy.—British Wireless Service.

No Change of Policy in Egypt.
Reuter is informed that Sir Miles Lampson is unable to leave China before November, and expects to take up his new post at Cairo before the end of the year.

It is further learned from official circles that the fact that a diplomatist has been appointed to Cairo, does not indicate any change in policy.

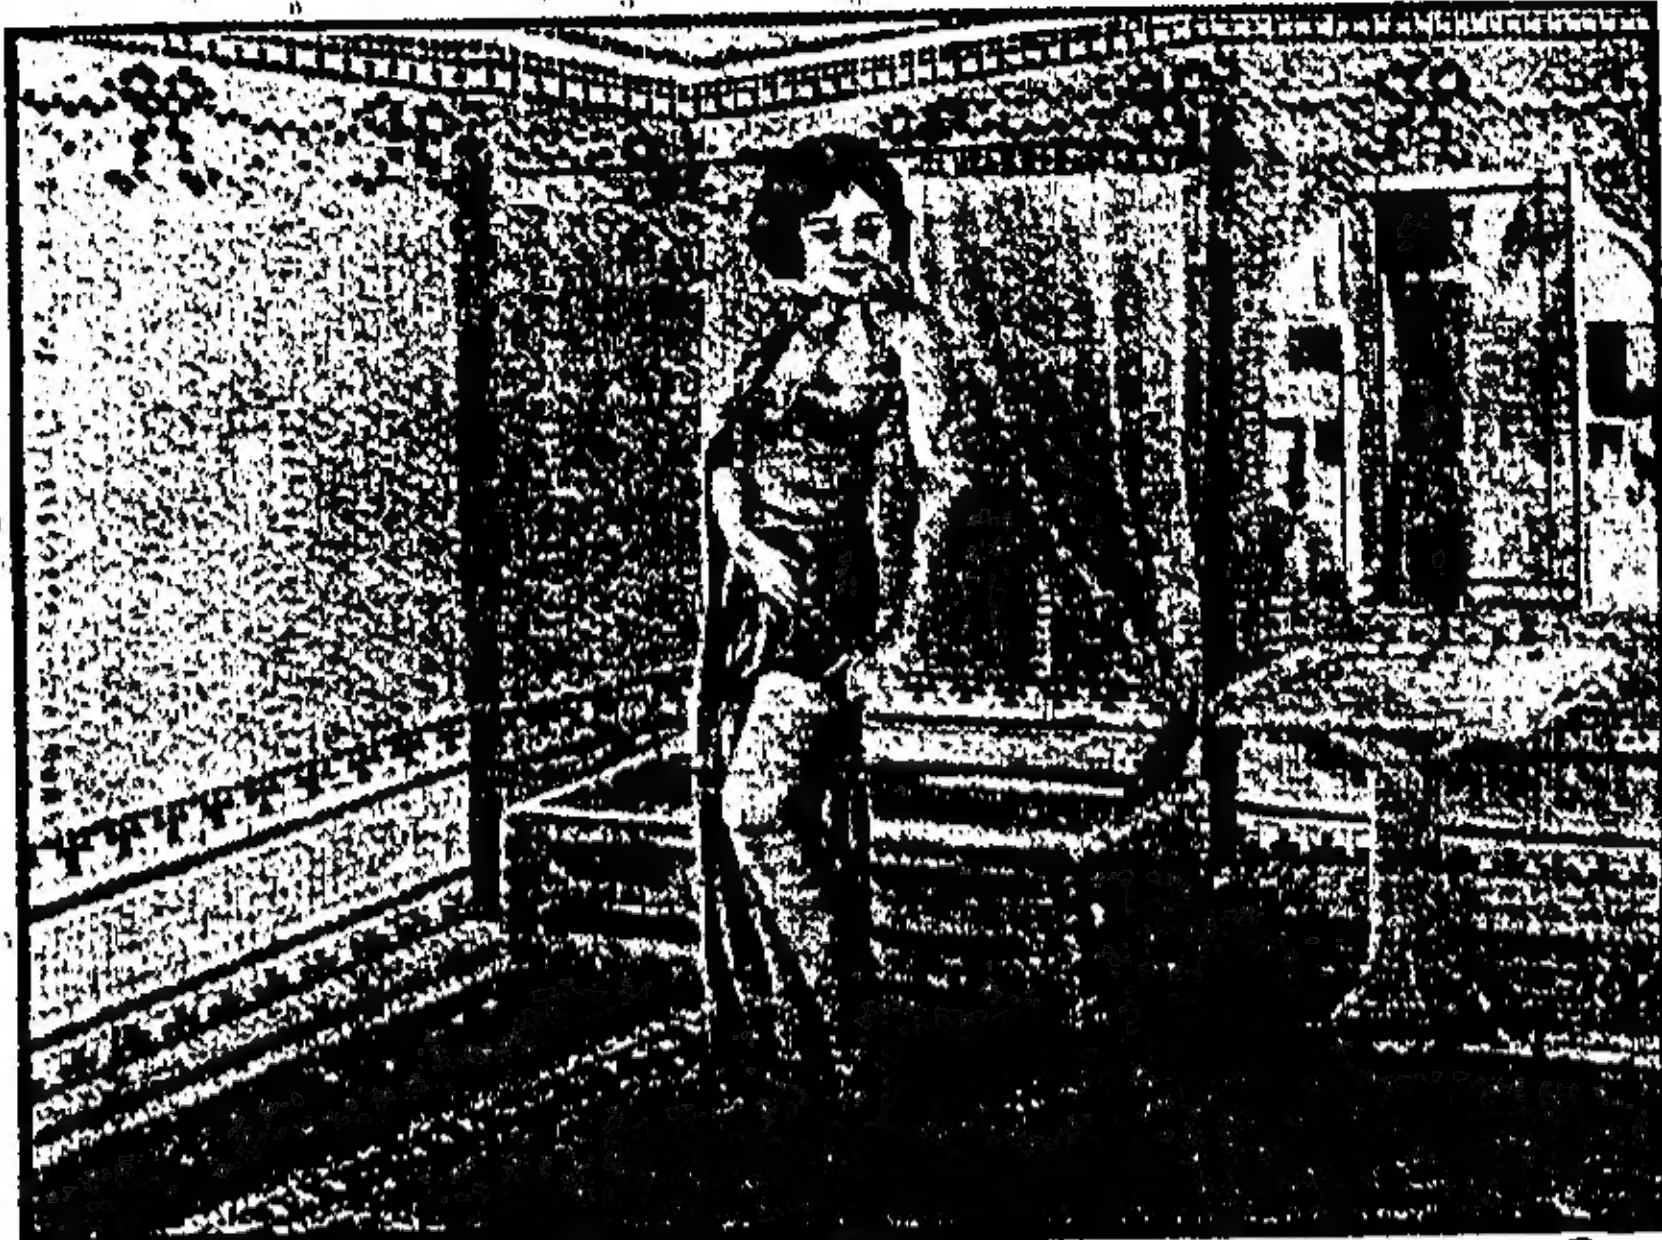

The retiring Commissioner is Sir Percy Lorain.

The question of a successor to Sir Miles Lampson is under consideration.—Reuter.

Entered Foreign Office in 1903.

EMPIRE'S BEST MARKSMANNOTTS MAN WINS THE KING'S PRIZE

Disley.—The King's Prize was won by Officer Cadet D. E. Woods, Nottingham University O.T.C., with a score of 237 points. He had 143 in the second stage, three points below that of Flying Officer Bunch, late R.A.F., who won the silver medal. To this score Woods added 73 at 900 yards, and clinched the matter with a really magnificent 73 out of 75 at 1,000 yards. He dropped a point with his first shot, and then held the bull until the eleventh, when he had another inner. He wins £250, a gold medal and gold badge, the chief prize for marksmanship in the Empire, and one which the premier marksmen of the Empire have come from far and near to win.

Woods is 25 and is a research worker in Biochemistry at Nottingham University. His grandfather, Sergeant H. Woods, 3 V.B. Hants Regiment shot in the final in 1886, 1891 and 1897, and won the Prince of Wales's prize with the old Martini-Henry rifle in 1890, the year the N.R.A. came here from Wimbledon. His father, also of the 3 V.B. Hants Regiment, was in the final in 1892. This year's winner was in the final last year.

Young Woods was not shooting very quickly, and for some minutes it looked as though there was going to be a tie between the Canadian representative, C.S.M. M. J. McLeod, and South Africa, represented by Lance-Sergeant Johnson, of Durban. Both had 292, a low score, but not the lowest of recent years. Miss Foster won in 1930 with 290.

Exciting Finish.

Then news came from butt two that R. S. M. Leggate, late Highland Light Infantry, could beat them. He had brought back 144 from the second stage had made 68 at 900 yards and could make 284. He had an inner for his last shot and finished 283. Meanwhile the crowd had been gravitating towards Wood's target. He had still three shots to go and could make 287. He ended triumphantly with bulls and by four o'clock had been congratulated by Lord Hailsham and was being chaired round the camp, a very popular victor.

Conditions were not ideal for high scoring, for there was a rather misty light and a lazy shifting wind which beat many men with big reputations. Other leading scores were—

Lt. D. O. White, Canada, 231; Capt. H. Stg. Maxwell, Suffolk, 231; Sergt. Aitchison, late K.O. S.B., 221; E. A. Chapman, late Cambridge O.T.C., Armourer Sgt. F. S. French, Squadron Leader C. S. Richardson, R.A.F., Lt. G. F. Booth, late R.A.F., all 280; Capt. L. B. L. Hughes, R. A. J. Baxter, late London Scots, P. P. R. T. Garnett, late Inns of Court, Gunner Swire, R.N., and Pte. O. M. Peckham, Maritzburg, all 278.

Just before he went to receive the prize at five o'clock, Woods was handed a telegram of congratulation from the King. The St. George's Vase, Dragon Cup, and gold badge was won by Pte. P. R. T. Garnett, late Inns of Court, after an exciting tie. Shot in easy conditions at 900 yards, there were seven scores of 74 out of 75. The others were Capt. J. A. Barlow, West Yorks Regiment; A. C. Bolton, C.S.M. McLeod, Canada; Pte. S. F. Wheeler, Artists Rifles; Commander C. M. Slack, R.N.; and Capt. C. A. Dixon, 2nd Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire Regiment. Garnett, Barlow, and Bolton all had three bulls for the shots, and had to carry on, and all put on another bull. For the fifth shot Garnett had a bull and the other two both magpies. Barlow then shot against Bolton for second place and won it with a bull to an inner. Other results issued were—

The Association Cup.—Mr. F. S. Barnes, 69; next, Lt. Colonel Gibson, Canada, 69; Lance-Sgt. J. E. Johnson, Durban, C. Bunch, Commissioned Gunner Barber, R.N., and C.P.O. Gantcher, R.N., 68.

The All-comers' Aggregate Challenge Cup.—C.S.M. N. J. McLeod, Canada, 350; Lt. Col. Gibson, Canada, and F. C. Thompson, late Q.W.R., 347; J. A. Crawford, H. V. Northcote, Officer Cadet Boswell, London University, O.T.C., and J. D. Hare Dean, 346.

CONSTABLE SPEARED BY ABORIGINES

Canberra, Aug. 14.—A message from the Administrator of the Northern Territory received here to-day states Constable Albert Stewart McColl was speared to death by aborigines. He was a member of a police party sent to Caledon Bay to arrest aborigines believed to be implicated in the murder of several Japanese in there last year, but met their fate himself.

DR. BRUENING TO BECOME MONKEX-CHANCELLOR OF GERMANY GOES INTO SECLUSION

Berlin, Aug. 13.—According to latest reports, the ex-Chancellor of Germany, Dr. Heinrich Brüning, will shortly enter a monastery. There, in seclusion, he will continue his scientific studies. It is also said that he will renounce his seat in the Reichstag.

Dr. Brüning, who is now 48 years old, studied history, philosophy and political science, and received the degree of doctor of economics shortly before the War. From 1914 to 1918, he served on the western front where he commanded a machinegun detachment. After recovering from wounds received on the Marne, he became prominent in social welfare work for the working class and was elected a member of the Reichstag in 1924. He reached the peak of his political career when President von Hindenburg, in 1930, placed him at the helm of the Cabinet. When he retired last year, even Herr Adolf Hitler, his most relentless political foe, paid high tribute to the personal integrity and immense working capacity of the "Chancellor-Monk," as Dr. Brüning was called by the German press.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that Dr. Brüning, the former Centrist Premier of Weimar, has also entered a monastery.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

GERMAN SAILOR TO RESCUERussian Saved From DrowningHEROISM OF MEMBER OF KOELN'S CREW

Shanghai, Aug. 15.—Through the stout efforts of a sailor off the German cruiser Koeln, a Russian bathing at Chapoo was saved from drowning on Sunday morning, according to Mr. J. Cifka, of the Palace Hotel.

Mr. Cifka went with a party, including Wilhelm Gospodarek, the German sailor to Chapoo early that morning. On reaching the beach, they sat down and looked about them. Another party had come before them, and a young Russian chauffeur who had driven this party's car went into the water for a swim.

Not long after he had gone in, he commenced to shout for help, but as he was a young, merry fellow, no one took any notice, thinking he was merely playing a joke. Suddenly the shriek of a woman drew their attention to the fact that the Russian had gone under and had not come up again. Gospodarek, the German sailor, quickly removed his outer garments, and swam rapidly to the rescue. Spectators saw him swim around for a bit, and then drag up the unconscious Russian. Swimming strongly, he soon brought him to the shore.

Artificial Respiration Succeeded.

The first thought was for a doctor, but it was obvious that to hunt for one, when every moment counted, would be useless. The sailor, despite his previous exertions, set to, and applied artificial respiration.

For a time, it appeared as if his efforts would be useless, but after ten minutes had passed, signs of the Russian's returning to consciousness were noticeable. Finally after fifteen minutes of hard work on the part of the sailor, the Russian was revived, and is now little the worse for his near escape from death.

But the 23-year-old German lad, despite his labours, felt that a good swim was what he needed, and set out for a visit to the neighbouring islands. His companions watched him anxiously, as may be imagined, but after an hour's swim, he returned, showing little signs of the strenuous time he had gone through.

According to Mr. Cifka, the Russian, whose age he estimated to be between 20 and 22, was not a good swimmer. It was low tide at the time, and it was necessary to go rather far out to get into water deep enough for swimming. Apparently the chauffeur got out of his depth, and losing his head, plunged about and shouted, soon going under.

It is quite certain that had the sailor not been such a good swimmer, or so expert at artificial respiration, the chauffeur's swim would have ended in a tragedy.

IMPERIAL SERVICE
COLLEGELarge Gathering At Speech DayPORTRAITS PRESENTED BY THE KING

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 1.—Major-General Charles Grant gave away the prizes in the presence of a large gathering, in the King Edward's Horse Hall, at the Imperial Service College, Windsor, on Saturday. The chairman of the governors, Major-General the Earl of Athlone, Lord Trenchard, Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger Keyes, and the Dean of Windsor sent messages of regret at being unable to be present, but Sir George Arthur (vice-chairman), Sir Arthur Mayo Robson, Sir Bruce Bruce-Porter, and Mr. A. A. Somerville, M.P., were on the platform to support the headmaster, King Edward's Horse was represented by Colonel James, the last Colonel of the Regiment.

Major-General Grant said that from a study of the recently published history of their college he found that all connected with the school had worked hard for its honour and good. He congratulated the school on the extraordinary progress, which had made them one of the leading public schools of the kind in the country.

Mr. A. A. Somerville, M.P., a member of the governing body, said that the school had a good reputation at Sandhurst and Woodwich and throughout the Services.

Mrs. E. G. A. Beckwith, headmaster since 1912, when the school was reconstituted on the lines laid down by the late Lord Chelmsford, said that the King had presented a signed portrait of himself and a portrait of King Edward to the school. The portrait had been hung in King Edward's Horse Hall. A scheme was in operation, he said, under which scholarships were tenable at the Imperial Service College by boys from Rhodesia. At the present time there were seven Rhodesian scholars at the college. One of them, B. C. Ledebor, who was awarded the Lord Roberts prize for the best all-round boy in the school, proved himself to be one of the outstanding school athletes of the year at the Public Schools Championships, when the school team took second place.

In his report of the school year the Headmaster recorded the fact that a freehold site, formerly part of the Old Etonian Country Club, had been secured by the college, and a bathhouse erected, the opening ceremony being performed by Lady Mary Crichton, accompanied by Colonel Sir George Crichton, and attended by representative Eton boating masters. The number of boys—342—at present in the school constituted a record. Among a long list of successes mention was made of A. J. G. Lydecker, who passed second into the Navy (Special Public Schools Entry), following upon the success of last year, when two brothers passed from the college first and second into the Navy; H. L. Denman, First Class Honours Engineering at London University; G. N. Burnard, awarded the Rome Scholarship for Mural Painting; and K. W. Bols, Senior Under Officer, No. 5 Company, Royal Military College, Sandhurst. Captain L. G. Wheeler was rewarded for distinguished service rendered in the field in recent military operations in Burma.

A portrait in oils of the headmaster by Philip Connard, R.A., subscribed for by the Old Boys, was hung in the Royal Academy this year.

REPUBLIC IDEA
REJECTEDTRANSVAAL FAVOURS PARTY FUSION

Pretoria, Aug. 11.

A resolution favouring fusion between the Nationalist and South African parties was passed to-day by the Transvaal Nationalist Congress by 181 votes to nine, while a proposal for the eventual establishment of a republic was rejected by 179 votes to 21.

In the course of a speech, General J. B. M. Hertzog, the Prime Minister, declared that fusion was a matter for the people to decide and that the leaders must abide by the decision.

Transvaal will now request a Union-wide congress of the Nationalist Party in order to discuss the question of fusion.—Reuter.

FORT CANNING LIGHT ALL RIGHT

Singapore Cannot Be Missed

SHUTTER THAT LEFT A GLEAM

In connection with the complaint by a French skipper, who is a frequent visitor to this port, that Fort Canning light-house showed irregularity when he was bringing his vessel, the Van Vollenhoven, into the Roads from Saigon at 7 a.m. on Friday, the Marine Department detailed the light-house engineer to investigate the matter, and the Free Press was informed that engineer checked the working of the light on Saturday morning, but failed to find any defect.

He examined the red and white sectors, but there, too, could find no fault, and now he presumes that the ground for complaint is that the shutter which obscures the light at certain intervals to give the eclipses by which the light-house is recognised does not close down firmly and leaves narrow strip of light showing at its lower end. To-day a six inch brass strip will be added to the bottom of the cylindrical shutter.

Visible 15 Miles

This shutter, he explained, is a cylinder which is raised and lowered over the light jet by clock-work. The jet is fed by incandescent coast light oil giving 128,000 candle power of light is telescoped by dioptric lenses, giving a visibility of 15 miles.

The engineer declared that the complaint was only of a technical nature and the defect—if there really was one—did not constitute any danger to shipping.

Every captain who enters this port, he declared, "and sees the Fort Canning light can recognise it immediately. It is the first time I have received such a complaint, but I remember that there was a similar report about the Penang light-house last year, when the engineer there also remarked the defect in the shutter by adding several inches of brass plate to the cylinder."

FIVE GIRLS KILLED

DOGS USED IN HUNT FOR "VAMPIRE"

Hundreds of specially-trained dogs are assisting a large force of police in a hunt for a murderer whose methods are similar to those of the German "vampire" Kurten, the man executed in 1931, for the nightmare crimes around Dusseldorf, states a message from Warsaw.

The hunt is sweeping through the villages and forests around Liwicz, a town 40 miles from Warsaw. Two spms may be called out to assist.

Five girls have been murdered by the "vampire" in a week. Two of them, aged 22 and 23, were apparently attacked by the mystery man in broad daylight.

Their bodies were found beneath a bridge. They had been killed with a hammer.

Another girl, a 17-year-old student, was killed in the same way while picking flowers in a garden.

The fourth victim, lying on her deathbed, related how the killer exclaimed to her: "Whether you cry or not, you too must die."

Two of the girls were aged 14 and 15.

"Capture the killer, dead or alive," is the order of the authorities. Meanwhile women are refusing to leave their homes in the town.

EURASIA AVIATION CORPORATION

PETITION FOR MORE CAPITAL TO COMPLETE PROGRAMME

It is learnt that the Eurasia Aviation Corporation has submitted Communications for the increase of a memorandum to the Ministry of its capital by $2,000,000. The present capital is $3,000,000 the Chinese Government holding two-thirds of the shares and the German interest one-third. The arrangement would similarly apply to the increased capital if the proposal is approved by the Ministry.

The decision to increase the capital was reached at the last meeting of the Board of Directors. Unless additional funds are obtained, the Company will be unable to carry out its programme for the operation and development of various airways.

Under the present plans of the Corporation, an air mail and passenger service will shortly be inaugurated between Canton and Hankow, which will later be extended to Sian, the Shensi provincial capital. Trial flights on the Kansu-Kokonor branch of the North-western Airway will also be made.

U.S. TRADE OFFICES

FAR EAST OFFICES CLOSED

HOOVER'S "TRADE PROMOTION" ABANDONED

Washington.—The scheduled closing on June 30 of 21 of the 53 foreign offices maintained by the United States Department of Commerce signifies a change of tactics in governmental trade advancement efforts, and marks the end of the Hoover-Klein chapter in world wide "trade promotion."

The reduction in offices abroad does not imply any relaxation in the United States' trade efforts, however, as the announcement was accompanied by an official statement that "under the policy of broad and impartial service to American trade and industry, special efforts will be made to maintain a very high standard of the quality and effectiveness of the Department's facilities for the extension of American foreign trade."

For Efficiency

The offices closed from June 30, are the following: Europe—Belgrade, Bern, Bucharest, Helsinki, Lisbon, Oslo, Riga. Latin America—Carnegie, Guatemala, Montevideo, San Juan, San Paulo; Far East—Bangkok, Hong Kong, Mukden, Wellington; Canada—Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver; Africa—Accra.

The wholesale closing of offices is primarily intended as part of a programme "For tightening up the efficiency of service at greatly reduced expense to the government." The territories which the closed bureaux have served will be served from the nearest Department of Commerce office located at an important capital.

Inevitably, however, the reduction of commerce bureaux and personnel abroad will throw a larger share of commercial representation upon the United States consulates, legations, and embassies and the move curtails a world wide expansion of "trade promotion" agencies which was a cardinal feature of the programme initiated by Herbert Hoover when Secretary of Commerce.

Considered Success

Up to the ill-fated year 1929, the Hoover-Klein "trade promotion" campaign was considered to be a magnificent success. Bureaus were established in more than 50 strategic commercial centres, and the ever mounting total of United States' exports was attributed in large measure to the work of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Experts from many countries came here to study the Hoover-Klein methods, and numerous foreign commercial bureaux were organized along similar lines. Exports in 1929 reached a maximum of $3,240,000,000.

In 1929, however, the "inflation" bubbles began to burst, and the impression grew that official trade promotion was a relatively minor factor in the growth of commerce. Appropriations for the bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce were repeatedly attacked at the Capital and frequently sharply cut. Exports in 1932 were down to $1,912,000,000, below the pre-war level.

Two points of view developed, one claiming that with falling exports there was no justification for the great Department of Commerce trade machine, and the other holding that in a period of declining commerce the official aids to Congress should be strengthened. The merits of the issue are not yet clear, although the continued slump in export commerce is a disturbing fact in the national economic life.

The retention or closing of foreign offices apparently was determined in large part by the importance of United States exports to the region affected, and by the relative proximity of other commerce offices.

The Department of Commerce expressly stated that the closing of offices does not reflect on the ability of services or personnel there-in.

S'PORE BANKRUPTCY OFFICE

OHOKED FULL!

Singapore, August 12.—"It seems to me this is one of the cases we should try to get rid of. There has never been a bankruptcy clean-up here."

I am trying to get every bankruptcy closed," were some of the remarks made by the Official Assignee, Mr. C. Wilson, in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday before the Chief Justice (Sir Walter Huggard) when he supported an application for discharge by Seow Choo Lee.

His Lordship granted the discharge without suspension.

THE U.S. BIG NAVY

WOMEN'S LEAGUE PROTEST

Washington, Aug. 13. The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, which has for many years wielded strong influence in pacifist circles in the United States, to-day issued an appeal for a nation-wide observance of the Briand-Kellogg Treaty anniversary on August 27. Behind the observance of the signing of the pact is a move to protest against the contemplated naval building programmes of the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Officials of the League declared that the United States Government started the naval expansion idea and that despatches indicate that a naval race is in prospect. Expansion of the American navy is bound to be followed by similar programmes elsewhere, the leaders said, and, once started they are difficult to stop.

Officials would not say whether they expected sufficient response to compel the Government to cancel the contracts already awarded.

If the plans of the League succeed, each meeting will adopt a resolution of protest and send it to President Roosevelt.

Officials here had no comment other than to say that, so far as they knew, not one of the countries mentioned is actually expanding its navy but is simply following ordinary business policies and replacing worn-out vessels.—United Press.

BUILDING FALLS IN NANKING

27 CHINESE WORKERS BURIED UNDER DEBRIS

Nanking, Aug. 13.

About 13 workers are seriously injured and more than 10 still buried under the debris as a result of the collapse of a newly constructed two-storey building near the Municipal centre on Chungshan road, shortly before noon to-day.

It is believed that there were about 27 workers in the building when the disaster occurred. Less than half escaped, while the others are still buried under the wreckage.

Since the location of the building is in probably the busiest traffic section of the city, a large crowd quickly gathered. The police, however, immediately formed a cordon to keep away the curious.

Meanwhile, a band of rescue workers and police feverishly commenced to remove the debris in search of bodies buried underneath.

So far 10 men have been rescued and sent to the hospital in ambulances. All of them are stated to be in a critical condition.

The rescue work is still going on and fear that the death toll will be heavy is felt.

So far two workers are known to have succumbed to injuries received when the building collapsed.

It is feared that the death-roll will be greater than at first thought as a number of those who were injured are in a very critical condition.

The contractor in whose hands the construction of the building had been placed has gone into hiding for fear of punishment.—Reuter.

NEW DISEASE IN PEIPING

WAR-TIME EYE-SICKNESS FROM BATHING

Peiping, Aug. 14.
The disease, known as swimmers' conjunctivitis, made its appearance in Peiping with the opening of the Municipal Swimming Pool in the Chungnan Hai Park. During the last few days, doctors of the department of ophthalmology of the P.U.M.C. Hospital had a busy time treating patients suffering from serious eye trouble. More than ten cases have been treated, including six members of the staff of the hospital and all the patients admitted they had swum in the new Muncipal Pool.
According to an expert of the department, the disease first made its appearance in Europe during the Great War and was caused by swimming in unclean water. It is similar to trachoma and requires treatment which may extend over a period of two or three months.
One of the most unfortunate cases is Dr. Tang Tu Tong of the X-Ray Department of the P.U.M.C. who originally planned to sail

LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST,
SCIENTIST—HONG KONG.

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 20.

The Golden Text was: "It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure." (Philippians 2:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes. . . I will meditate in thy precepts, and have respect unto thy ways. I will delight myself in thy statutes; I will not forget thy word. . . Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law. . . Give me understanding, and I shall keep thy law; yea, I shall observe it with my whole heart. . . For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and a sound mind" (Ps.
119:12,15,16,18,34.—II Tim. 1:7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience, that is, all power, all presence, all Science. Hence all is in reality the manifestation of Mind" (p. 275).

D.E.I. PLANTERS

Medan, August 5.—As the result of the overwhelming support given to the proposed Planters' Crisis Fund by estate managers and employees, the Java papers declare that the fund is to be inaugurated shortly.

The idea is to levy one per cent.
of the income of all members, the money to be used to relieve planters in distress.

For the United States about the

"TO-DAY WE LIVE"

AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE

Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper are co-starred for the first time in this interesting picture now playing at the Queen's Theatre. Miss Crawford has adapted herself particularly well to the role of an aristocratic English girl. Gary Cooper and Gilbert Young both suitors for her hand have enlisted and so has her brother, portrayed by Franchot Tone, a new comer, but well on the way to stardom. Joan is very lovely, as we see her in her Ambulance Corps uniform, so that she may be near those she loves. Her lover is reported killed, and she marries Gilbert Young, but her former sweetheart turns up. Both boys are eventually killed and she marries the man of her heart.

BLUE-EYED BABY STAR

A FAVOURITE AT ELSTREE

Four months' old Geoffrey Frost of Elstree made his debut as a film actor at the British International Pictures studios where he appeared as the baby in "My Wife's Family," directed by Monty Banks. He became a great favourite with Muriel Angelus, Amy Veness, Ellen Pollock, Molly Lamont and Dodo Watts, and although his mother was in attendance at the studio he spent most of his time, when not on the set, in their arms.

This sudden advance into the spotlight and great admiration however, led to one or two temperamental outbursts on the part of the young star and only the amusing antics of Gene Gerrard, prior to the shooting of important "baby" scenes, brought back the sunshine of Geoffrey's smiles after April showers.

The baby in "My Wife's Family" has to have blue eyes. Geoffrey when submitted to the casting directors was found to be admirably suited to the requirements of the part.

The film concludes with the dynamiting of the "baby" concealed in a summer house, but to allay alarm it must be made clear that the baby, in this instance, is a grand piano, and the confusion into which all the characters are thrown is caused by the mix-up of the two "babies."

"My Wife's Family" will be presented at the Queen's Theatre on Thursday.

"JUNGLE KILLER"THE MOST DANGEROUS
ANIMAL IN AFRICA

Ask a friend what the most dangerous animal in Africa is and the invariable answer will be "The Lion," but according to Carveth Wells, described by Lowell Thomas as "the gay blade of exploration" who does the descriptive talking in "The Jungle Killer" the Century Production now showing at the Central Theatre the lion is not dangerous until made so by man. The lion is certainly not nearly so dangerous as an almost invisible little bug, the jigger.

The jigger is a tiny flea which burrows into the toes and under the fingernails of unfortunate travellers, swelling the flesh to the extent where sometimes toes and fingers drop off. African pest is not a native of the country at all. It was brought there from tropical America.

Carveth Wells will throw red pepper into the faces of African lions, but he maintains a great respect for the insignificant jigger.

YOUTHFUL HUN-TER ARRESTEDACCIDENT AT WHITE
CLOUD MOUNTAIN

White Cloud Mountain, one of the natural beauty spots at Canton, was the scene of a serious accident a day or so ago when a young student out hunting for birds with a shot gun inadvertently hit another youth causing him grievous bodily harm. The victim was not in company with the young sportsman, but was aimlessly sitting high up on the branch of a tree quite out of sight of any passerby. The bullet from the gun only really grazed the body of the lad, but fright caused him to lose his balance and, falling from his perch, he sustained serious body wounds. The youthful sportsman was arrested, but the police realised that the shot fired was purely accidental and he was later released. He was advised however to pay a certain sum of money to his victim as compensation and this he accordingly did.

MAUGHAM ON THE SCREEN

"The Narrow Corner"

PHILOSOPHY, DRAMA AND A STORM

London, Aug. 1.
What an artist is Mr. Maugham! How easily, yet without Thackeray's didactic condescension, he conjures up his characters and evokes the spirit of tragedy, tempered always by his own cool and ironic temper!

His latest novel, "The Narrow Corner," has been done by Warner Brothers into a film, showing at the Regal. I strongly advise you to see it—and this though there has been flagrant dishonesty in the matter of treatment and a good deal of the tale's distinction has been destroyed.

Rich Character Drawing.

Some changes and omissions were, I suppose, inevitable. The book was too full of "meat," the characters were drawn with such insight and power that half a dozen of them each cried out for a picture to himself. The soundlessly Cockney skipper, afraid of nothing on earth but his wife, with his dyspepsia, his obscenity and his passion for sea-burials—here is the greatest creation of his kind in English literature, and I do not except Huish in "The Ebb Tide."

Dr. Saunders, the tolerant opium-smoking philosopher, who teaches that life is short, nature hostile, and man ridiculous; Swan, the cackling old blackbird, and his futile son-in-law, who has spent five years on a translation of the "Lusitana" that is to be his daughter's only dowry; Eric, the hard-some young Danish giant, wrapping himself in illusions whose shattering he cannot survive—they all stand out from the vivid East Indian background with stereoscopic clarity.

Mr. Fairbanks' Progress.

Just how clear they will be to those who have not read the book, with its searching analysis and ironic tang, I do not know; but I think the film will be found entertaining despite the foreshortenings and mutilations. The setting and the characters will have for most people the charm of novelty, and the long storm scene is magnificent—the most brilliant, technically, that I have ever seen.

The acting is uneven. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., as Fred, the handsome young Australian whom women find irresistible, gives the best performance of his career. He has lost his earlier "toughness" and has developed into one of the most talented young leading men on the screen—strong, sincere and admirably restrained.

Dudley Digges, too, is excellent as Doctor Saunders, Ralph Bellamy does all that is asked of him as Eric, and William V. Wong and Reginald Owen are well cast as the prostrate Swan and his cultured, shiftless son-in-law.

Mis-cast.

But two of the vital characters are not so happy. Arthur Kohl, though a strong enough actor, is too big and dominating a figure for the Cockney skipper, an obese little sparrow of a man who trades on the reluctance of bigger men to thrash him. And Patricia Ellis was mis-cast as the heroine.

Mr. Maugham's Louise, while real enough, had a certain dream-like radiance which Miss Ellis fails to suggest; and the instinctive passion of the original emerges as a rather commonplace penchant for "petting" of the normal cooed kind. In other words, Miss Ellis is a pretty young American who has not yet learned to act.

SIR IAN HAMILTON
INDEFATIGABLE "GRAND OLD MAN"

London.—Sir Ian Hamilton was born in Corfu eighty years ago. To-day he is one of our few really Grand Old Men.

What a life he has lived! He was in the Afghan War, the Boer War, the Nile Expedition, the Burmese Expedition and the Defence of Ladysmith. Then he served as Military Representative of India with the Japanese Field Army in Manchuria. And he went to work with enormous vigour during the Great War as Commander of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force.

His famous message to Birdwood at Anzac will always be remembered:—"You have got to get through this difficult business. Now you have only to dig, dig, dig, until you are safe."

Now he devotes much of his time to upholding the rights of the ex-soldier. They say he gets more than thirty letters a day, many of them from men who hope he will find work for them. He does the best he can.

Recently he inaugurated an Empire wine week at a West End hotel, and paid a graceful tribute to some of the Empire's vintage. He is one of the most indefatigable men of his age. He is called every morning at a quarter to seven, which is earlier than most British business men of half his age.

Sir Ian writes in bed most mornings from the time he is called until they bring his Scotch oatmeal porridge at eight o'clock or so. After that he gets up and tackles his day's letters.

Really, there seem to be more early risers among the elderly men than among the young ones these days.

Mr. Baldwin often walks in Hyde Park before breakfast. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald is usually sitting down to breakfast with Isabel by about eight o'clock. But the real terror of the black young man is Mr. Gordon Selfridge, who runs the big department store in Oxford Street. He always gets there by nine o'clock in the morning!

TWO WIDOWS AT FUNERAL

MEET FOR FIRST TIME AT
"HUSBANDS' BURIAL"

KANSAS, Aug. 11.

Two widows wept, to-day, at the funeral of Captain Edward Deeds, war-time American ace, who was killed in Canton some weeks ago while demonstrating an aeroplane at the Canton Aviation School.

Mrs. Marie Deeds, who claimed to have married Captain Deeds at Shanghai a few days before the fatal crash, was one of the chief mourners. The other was Mrs. Betty Deeds, who declared that she had never been divorced from the dead captain.

Apparently unaware of each other's existence, the widows met at the funeral, where Mrs. Betty Deeds demanded that she should be shown the marriage certificate substantiating the claims of Mrs. Marie Deeds. The Shanghai bride, however, did not produce the certificate, declaring that it was hardly customary to bring a marriage certificate to the grave of a husband.—United Press.

ECHOES OF 1858

48.—"Music Hath Its Charm." Strange
Behaviour of Chinese

A concert given by Mr. Albert Smith on September 25, 1858, at the Hongkong Club in aid of local charities, had a most unusual sequel in those far off days in Hongkong. Mr. Albert Smith was a well-known musician in his day and the following account taken from our files of what the Chinese did to honour him may prove interesting.

The Chinese were greatly puzzled what to make of Mr. Albert Smith. He mixed with them as much as he possibly could, and tickled them amazingly with his dulcimer. They saw he was a celebrity among his countrymen, and they came to the conclusion that he was something between a sage and a funny devil. When however, they saw that all the respectable foreigners thronged to the entertainment he gave, and learnt that all the proceeds of the same were given to the charities, they regarded with astonishment and approbation. They seemed determined to give vent to their feelings in some way and they certainly hit upon a most effective plan, for they paid him a compliment that never before was accorded to any white mortal man.

Accordingly, at the time appointed for Mr. Smith to leave the Club, a very handsome sedan chair awaited him with all the paraphernalia of a celestial procession—music to drive demons, and to call attention to the parade, flags with devices setting forth his virtues and talents, emblems denoting offerings and sacrifices for peace and plenty to be his lot on earth, with happiness and fame afterwards. Thus conveyed and accompanied he was carried through the town to the wharf of the P. & O. Company, where, he embarked amidst a display of fireworks which were meant to propitiate the elements until he should be safely landed at home.

Mr. Albert Smith has just cause to be proud of his reception in China, and of the unique ovation made on his quitting it. He won the hearts of all here, and was literally overwhelmed with presents in the shape of Chinese curios, which money could not have bought, and for which the colony was ransacked to throw at his feet. He must have received many things which cannot be replaced, and we should say he has the means to furnish a museum which never had its equal in Europe, and which George Robins would be at a standstill to puff up.

CHINESE CLERK CHARGED

ALLEGED FRAUDULENT CONVERSION.

A Chinese clerk employed by Messrs. A. Sek & Co., the well-known local photographers, was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones on Saturday with fraudulent conversion of a quantity of photographic supplies, valued at $431.63, which he received on behalf of A. Sek & Co. from the Eastman Kodak Company, between June 23 and July 24.

Mr. Peter Sin appeared on behalf of A. Sek & Co., and when defendant pleaded guilty, Mr. Sin said that the defendant had given every possible assistance to the police in recovering the property and in fact he thought the case should be dealt with summarily and not sent to the Sessions.

The hearing was fixed for Thursday, August 24, at 2.30 p.m.

MR. FRED TERRY

ESTATE PROVED AT $20,521

The estate of Mr. Frederick Terry, the famous actor-manager, brother of the late Ellen Terry, and father of Phyllis Neilson-Terry and the late Dennis Neilson-Terry, has been proved at $20,521 (net personalty $19,679).

He left to his wife (Julia Neilson) $2,000, all his household effects to her to be disposed of in accordance with any memorandum left by him; and all his interest in their joint theatrical enterprises, except his interest in their stores at Brington.

$1,000 each was bequeathed to his friends, Arthur Garrett and Violet Fairbrother, $250 to his brother, Charles Terry, $250 to Polly Convey, $250 to Miss "Nan" Furnival, $200 to his late chauffeur, Frederick Wilson.

$25 to his late valet, Robert Spencer.

$200 to his friend, Nellie Schwabe, "who nursed me through very bad times."

One of his silver salvers to his old friend, Sir John Bland.

And he declared that moneys advanced during his lifetime to any legacies were intended as gifts "or have been forgiven by me."

Subject to some other specific bequests he left the residue of the property to his wife for life, and on her death as to $500 for his granddaughter, Hazel Neilson-Terry, on attaining 25 years, or to her children, whom failing to his granddaughter, Monica, and $200 to his granddaughter, Monica, on attaining 25 years, or to her children, whom failing to the residuary estate.

The ultimate residue was left as to half upon trust for his daughter, Phyllis King, with remainder to her children as she may otherwise appoint and half to Violet Fairbrother absolutely, whom failing to her heirs and executors, or should she predecease and leave no will then between her nephew, Harcourt Fairbrother, and her cousin's daughter, Audrey, Elizabeth, Mar-

THE DUTCH INDIES

Expected Campaign
Against Japanese
Trade

BRITAIN STILL BLAMED!

Tokyo.—Trade circles here attach much importance to the reported restriction of trade in the Dutch East Indies, which they understand, is intended to oust Japanese goods from that country. Both exporters and shipping men are endeavouring to learn the true situation.

According to the telegram received by a certain shipping company here, about which mention was made in yesterday's issue, the Dutch Government is to take a united front with Britain and France in rejecting Japanese goods. The rumoured restriction of trade to Dutch ships is merely the first move.

An Unbalanced Trade.

One of the economic reasons for which the Dutch Government now attempts to oust Japanese goods is the disparity of trade between the two countries. By virtue of the depreciation of the yen exchange, Japan's exports to the Dutch East Indies jumped to ¥100,000,000 last year, while her imports were only ¥40,000,000. The fall of the yen, as well as the boycott of Japanese goods in China, which resulted in the sharp fall of the import of crude sugar, was responsible for the poor import trade.

Surmises.

On the other hand, the trade relations between the Dutch Indies and Britain have been normal. Britain imports rubber and sugar from the Dutch Indies just as much as she exports cotton and sundry goods to the latter. As regards the restriction of trade to Dutch ships, it is pointed out that, as Mr. Kappa, chairman of the Anglo-Dutch Indies Association, is a managing director of a leading British shipping company and as he has long been advocating the exclusion of Japanese goods from the Dutch Indies, such an arrangement is possible.

Since the occurrence of the Manchurian affair, the feeling in many countries towards Japan has become unfavourable, and this is being made use of by British Japanese traders consider according to Asahi. Furthermore, the protection of her gold standard, Holland needs British assistance, and is restrained by the British policy on Japan.

A Cautious Feeling.

Many traders are, however, inclined to think that the Dutch Government will not take too radical an action against Japan. The Dutch Government is afraid of any resistance on the part of the natives, and therefore will endeavour to supply cheap goods to them. According to the Mainichi (Continued at foot of next col.)

HAN DYNASTY BRONZE STATUE

DUG UP IN SHAMSHUI
DISTRICT

Reports to hand state that a farmer named Ma Che Tsun of Tsoi Mei village in the Shamsui district, recently discovered an ancient bronze statue when he and his workmen were digging a new well near the Wai Mow Cave.

The statue was found at a depth of about eight feet, and on the back of the pedestal are a number of characters, which are likely to prove very difficult to decipher.

So far, no other relics have been found and the farmer has taken the statue to experts to decide its age and period.

It is believed that the bronze statue dates from the "Han" dynasty.

THEFT OF A WRIST- WATCH

YOUNG CHINESE GIRL IN TROUBLE

A young Chinese girl named Lo Kian Chee appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday morning charged with stealing a wrist-watch belonging to a woman Lo Mo Ching of No. 37, East Street, 2nd floor.

It was stated by a European detective that complainant reported to the police at the No. 7 Police Station that she had lost a wrist-watch between the 18th and the 18th instant, and she suspected that the article was stolen by the defendant, who temporarily boarded at her house.

After the report had been made, a Chinese detective arrested defendant and found the watch at the "Lee Shing" Pawn Shop.

After the hearing the Magistrate ordered that the watch be first returned to the complainant, and the case was adjourned till this morning.

the Dutch Government also has a sort of cautious feeling towards the geographical relations between the Dutch Indies and Japan. Many traders are of opinion that if Japan can see her way to adjust the present position by substituting a "give and take" policy for a "one-sided trade" the situation will be greatly improved.

KWANGTUNG AIR SERVICE

URGENT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PETITION.

Canton, Aug. 19.
The provincial Chamber of Commerce is to petition the South-west Political Council and the Kwangtung Provincial Government to maintain a commercial air service in this province.

Declaring that aerial communication had made great strides in Europe and America, the petition points out that communication between Canton and other districts in the province is very slow and should be speeded up by air service. The difficulty is much greater as regards communication between Canton and places in Yunnan and Szechuen.

The petition further states that an air mail service will be soon started between Canton and Shanghai and that important places in Kwangtung should be linked up by the same means. If Canton is connected with other towns in this province and elsewhere by an air line, the prosperity of the province is well assured. It is further pointed out that air service is included in the Three-Year Plan and should therefore be maintained as soon as possible. —Central Press.

PRINCIPAL TENANTS FINED

Two Chinese men Mak Wah and Wong Fook and a woman Lai Sam appeared before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning, charged with keeping opium divans and the unlawful possession of prepared opium.

It was stated by a Chinese detective that the first defendant was the principal tenant of No. 17, Tung On Street, 1st floor, and the second and third were from No. 352, Reclamation Street, Mongkok. The first and second defendants pleaded guilty and the Magistrate fined the first $304 or ten weeks hard labour, and the second $320 or three months.

The third was discharged with a caution.

KWANGTUNG PAWNSHOPS

TO ACCOMMODATE POOR PEOPLE ONLY

Canton, Aug. 19.
As regards the government operation of pawnshops, an official of the provincial department of finance stated that valuable and jewelry will not be accepted as pledges but will accept only ordinary commodities.

The theory is that the public pawnshops will accommodate only poor people and not rich persons. It is also feared that opulent people may take advantage of the low interest in the public pawnshops and pawn their own valuables in order to loan the money to others for a higher interest. —Central Press.

$4,400 FOR EIGHT LOVE LETTERS

NAPOLEON RELICS CREATE NEW AUCTION RECORD

London, Aug. 1.
Eight early love-letters from Napoleon to Josephine were the chief feature of the last day of the Rosebery library sale at Sotheby's, London.

The love-letters were put up in one lot.
"Will anyone offer one thousand?" inquired the auctioneer, and a nod was the response.
Bids of fifty and one hundred came readily, and Mr. Gabriel Wells, of New York, was an early contestant, but at $2,900 he was beaten.

A leading bidder was Mr. Ben Meggs, the well-known dealer who called $4,400. It was unopposed and the letters passed to him. Thus a new record was created in the library auction market and at a time of financial stringency.
Before the love-letters were sold several others letters and MSS. written by Napoleon brought in hundreds of pounds. An autographed copy of a speech he made in Corsica found a ready buyer at $270.
It was not surprising that the Napoleonic section brought in $13,000, and that, with the other treasures in the library, there was a total of $50,000.

THE BISHOP OF HONG KONG

SPECIAL ADDRESSES IN SEPT. AND OCTOBER

The Bishop of Victoria (the Right Rev. Ronald Hall) is expected in the Colony this week.

During Sept. and October Bishop Hall proposes to give a series of nine addresses—in St. John's Cathedral on "How to Read the Gospel," to be followed each week by discussions on what the Bishop has said. The schedule of this course is as follows.

11 a.m. Sunday mornings in September.

September 3rd "How the Gospels were written."

September 10th "Can we read the actual words of Jesus?"

September 17th "The Gospels and our outlook on life."

September 24th "The Gospels and our personal problems."

6.30 p.m. Sunday Evenings in October.

October 1st "About friendship and love."

October 8th "About sin and failure."

October 15th "About forgiveness and repentance."

October 22nd "About God's rule in the world."

October 29th "About prayer and worship."

Questioned and discussions on Sunday's addresses will be held each week as follows:—

For Men—Mondays, Lane Crawford's, 1.00 p.m. (Sandwich Luncheon as required). Commencing 4th September.

For Women—Fridays, Helena May, 10.30 a.m. Commencing 8th September.

For Men and Women, Friday Evenings, 8.00 p.m. at the Bishop's House. (Light Supper $1.00). Commencing 8th September.

The Object of the Course.

The object of the course is described as follows:—

Wycliffe, Tyndale and King James' translators gave us the Bible in perfect English. But its meaning is still a closed book to many. To collect a beautiful thought each morning is inadequate both to our own problems and the majesty of Our Lord's grasp on life as a whole.

During the last thirty years Liberal Scholarship has been carrying forward the work of the early translators.

My desire is to share with you the results and the spirit of this movement: so that the Gospels may give us an entrance to the heart and mind of Jesus, and His influence may dominate our minds, our conduct and our hearts.

The Daily Press will print each address on Monday mornings. Those who have to miss any Sunday service can thereby follow the course and share the discussions. Discussions have been arranged at different times so that all who wish to come may do so. Each discussion will be opened by a short resume of the Sunday address.

RIDLEY AND CHAPMAN ENTER FINAL

The semi-finals of the Lincoln Lawn Tennis Singles Championship was played off last week when L/Capt. Ridley ("A" Company) and Dmr. Chapman (Headquarters Wing) qualified for the Final.
There was a large crowd present, including the Commanding Officer, Lieut-Colonel E. J. de C. Boys, M.C., when Ridley, playing very good tennis, disposed of Sgt. Malpas ("D" M.C. Company) after a keen struggle. Ridley won by 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 after being led 5-4 and 7-6 in the last set.
In the other bracket Chapman easily beat Adam Ellison (Headquarters Wing) by 6-1, 6-2.
The Final will be played on Wednesday and Lieut-Colonel Boys will present the prizes at the end.

THE UNITED STATES OF RUSSIA

WHY RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA IS LIKELY!

AMERICA OVERCOMES OBJECTION TO STATE PLANNING

Washington, Aug. 13.

With the United States government now embarked on a broad programme of state economic planning, one of the major arguments against the recognition of Soviet Russia, has been nullified, and political resistance to recognition apparently has further relaxed.

The idea long prevalent in many political quarters here that state planning was inconsistent with democratic republican institutions probably would not be a forceful argument in future congressional debate on recognition, since the Federal government now applies its authority to almost every phase of national industry, agriculture, and transport.

The United States government according to information from many sources is looking ahead to an early resumption of relations with Soviet Russia, but it such a step is deferred it would appear necessary to make a new statement of policy, since many of the reasons given by former Secretaries of State Colby, Hughes, and Kellogg against recognition are less pertinent than formerly.

Reasons for Delay.

The view has always prevailed here that President Woodrow Wilson, if he had not been stricken by serious illness in 1920, would have found some formula to enable recognition of Soviet Russia. This view was based on the sixth of his famous "Fourteen Points" enunciated in 1918 which said:

"The evacuation of all Russian territory and such a settlement of all questions affecting Russia as will secure the best and freest co-operation of the other nations of the world in obtaining for her an unhampered and unembarrassed opportunity for the independent determination of her own political development and national policy and assure her of a sincere welcome into the society of free nations under institutions of her own choosing; and more than a welcome, assistance also of every kind that she may need and may herself desire."

Notwithstanding this thought of Wilson, antedating the revolution of 1918, Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby in 1920 opposed recognition on the ground that the Soviet government was not representative of the Russian people and did not rule with their consent.

The subsequent Republican administrations continued the policy of non-recognition on three major grounds: (1) that Russia does not accord to foreign persons and property within her jurisdiction the degree of respect and protection required by international law; (2) it has failed to respect the international obligations (debts) of preceding governments; and (3) it has interfered in the internal affairs of other states by encouragement of revolutionary propaganda.

Insecurity Of Foreigners in Russia

In simplest terms, the United States refrained from recognition because of alleged non-protection of nationals, debts, and propaganda.

The uneasiness about nationals in Russia has probably abated with the passage of the years, since many Americans have visited Russia without molestation. The non-payment of war debts to the United States by a majority of European countries has reduced the relative importance of the Russian public debt to the United States, in which the major items were the $36,000,000 debt of the Czarist government and the $187,000,000 loaned to the Kerensky provisional government.

The menace of Russian Third International propaganda probably causes less concern in the United States than formerly because the economic and social programme of the United States government now has dramatic publicity values far transcending those of even the famous "Five Year Plan."

The "original Colby argument" against recognition was invalidated in some degree by the Hoover-Stimson general recognition policy applied to South American governments in particular which favored prompt recognition to provisional governments possessing a de facto control of their respective countries, provided there was no active resistance to their rule, and that they assured intention to fulfill international obligations.

Since promulgation of that policy in September, 1930, the United States has had three separate recognition policies, first, that applied to South America; second, that applied to Central America, where an international treaty forbade recognition of governments established by coup d'etat or revolution, and third, that applied to Soviet Russia. There has been considerable agitation here for a rule that would be uniform to all countries of the world.

A Changing World.

As changing world and national circumstances have in varying degrees modified political views on the recognition questions, new considerations have arisen which tend to favor the resumption of relations with Soviet Russia. Chief among these have been:

(1) A realization that Russian co-operation is essential to the success of world armament limitation efforts.

(2) Widespread popular opinion that restoration of the traditional national amity of the American and Russian peoples would be a factor favorable to peace and stability in the Pacific.

(3) Appreciation of the importance of the Russian market for American exports. These exports rose from $4,500,000 in 1923 to $113,300,000 in 1930, and thereafter declined drastically, partly because of obstructions to Russian imports here, partly to general depression adversely affecting Soviet exchange situation, and also due to lack of adequate credit facilities.

(4) The fear of American farmers that Soviet Russia might swamp world markets for grains, cotton, and other agricultural commodities has abated in the light of Russian production and export statistics of recent years.

In view of these circumstances, Senator William Borah's 10-year campaign to recognition seems likely soon to bear fruit. In his last formal speech before the senate on the subject, the Idaho senator said: "I can see no real peace in Europe until the Russian problem is settled. It is my belief there can be no disarmament of any moment, particularly land disarmament, until Russia is brought into the family of nations and amicable relations and clear understanding with all other powers are established."

GROSS OPPRESSION OF PEASANTRY (From Our Own Correspondent)

Kopu, Yunnan, July 28.
Oats, wheat and buck wheat are being harvested and there is an unusually good crop. The people are getting more to eat, their faces are beginning to fill out and as far as food is concerned prospects are much brighter.

As conditions in general in the province continue to be unsettled local disturbances become increasingly bad. Things have reached a pitch where no one is safe. Our local military official, entrusted with the keeping the peace, raided a Miao village recently, took off $4, 4-6, 9-7 after being led 5-4 and 7-6 in the last set.
In the other bracket Chapman easily beat Adam Ellison (Headquarters Wing) by 6-1, 6-2.
The Final will be played on Wednesday and Lieut-Colonel Boys will present the prizes at the end.

MURDER AT ABERDEEN

OLD MAN KILLED.

The body of an elderly Chinese, Lau Lin Pak, was found on Saturday morning in a shed close to the Aberdeen Dockyard.
He was apparently killed with an axe, which was found beside the body, there being a deep cut across the neck. The police theory is that he was murdered by robbers. The deceased was 66 years of age and kept a fish-stall in Aberdeen market.

The police are investigating the matter, but no arrests have been made to date.
him out and killed two men in doing so. This following day he sent word to another Miao village that if they did not come to talk things over, which means handing over a sum of money, he would pay them a visit. This is only one man out of several, but he is our neighbour and we know about his movements while we only hear about the others.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST UNIVERSITY

Every large town the world over now boasts a University, a reflection of the need in the modern world of an increasing number of highly skilled and specially educated persons. The modern University movement, a development of the older institutions which specialised in art and the classics, really started in America. It has been taken up intensively in China and Japan, and, not to be outdone Great Britain has been making similar advances during the past thirty years.

When, recently, King George, in the presence of the high dignitaries and representatives of nearly 150 universities and academies, laid the foundation stone of the new London University Building, a decisive step was taken towards the fulfilment of a long felt desire to see the world's largest university housed in a suitable building of its own, adequate for the needs of its central activities, and in keeping with the dignity of this great seat of learning.

It is strange indeed that the university of the capital of England, which has now 12,000 internal and 13,000 external registered students, and whose constituent colleges number 36, has previously had to live, so to say, in lodgings. During the nearly hundred years of its existence it has moved several times, beginning with rooms in Somerset House—at a time when the University was merely an examining body—and ending its term of pilgrimage in the present headquarters, the Imperial Institute, in South Kensington, half of which building was lent to it in 1900 by the Government.

In 1911 the Royal Commission on University Education in London issued a Report which, among other recommendations, laid down that the London University should have for its headquarters permanent buildings appropriate in design to its dignity and importance, adequate in extent and specially constructed for its purposes. The Commissioners pointed out the shortcomings of the Imperial Institute as a University centre—it has, for instance, no great central hall for ceremonial occasions, and it lacks accommodation for the library and the development of the corporate and social life of the University. But, apart from the financial aspect of the question, it was no easy task to find, in the heart of the most crowded metropolis in the world, a site of adequate size for so large an organisation. Proposals were put forward and rejected, many serious efforts were frustrated, and controversy had raged round the subject for twenty years when at last, in 1927, a suitable site of 10½ acres was acquired in Bloomsbury, behind the British Museum and surrounded by tree-planted squares.

There the buildings will now be erected, to the design and under the supervision of Mr. Charles Holden, who has already scored so many architectural triumphs. There is no intention of concentrating in Bloomsbury every institution under the University. Their sizes and the number of their students would make such an arrangement impracticable, and it could serve no useful purpose to move the several colleges and institutes which have already for a considerable time been established in their own permanent and adequate quarters. The new buildings will be chiefly the headquarters for the administration of the University and all its institutions.

There the Court and the Senate will meet, important ceremonies will take place in the Great Hall. The Students' Union and the University section of the Officers Training Corps will have their headquarters there, while several of the more recent institutions which are now in temporary homes, as for instance the Institute of Historical Research, the Institute of Education and the Courtauld Institute for the study of Art, will be housed there. Later on it may also be found possible to devote some part of the buildings to residential quarters for overseas students. The whole scheme is deliberately kept elastic so as to allow for needs which may arise within the period of thirty years, which at present it is thought may elapse before the completion of the own home.

Shanghai retained the Keswick Cup by defeating Hong Kong by 11 goals to 1.

The game was rather uninteresting as Shanghai was much too strong, but the game was noteworthy for the number of fouls, eleven being given against Shanghai and four against Hong Kong.

Shanghai led at half-time by 6/0.

Early in the fourth chukker Hope scored the Colony's only point with a backhand.

Du Rivau was outstanding, scoring three from sixty yards in addition to a fourth goal from closer range.—Reuter.

whole complex. For the same reason the design provides for great latitude regarding internal arrangements to meet varying needs, the whole plan being capable of gradual progress without at any time seeming unfinished.

Although the sum of three million pounds has been mentioned, it is not possible to estimate what will be the ultimate cost of the new buildings. But only great generosity on the part of interested bodies and private individuals has made it possible to proceed with the work at the present time. The purchase of the valuable site was effected chiefly by the aid of a large grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. The Corporation of the City of London has contributed £100,000 for the Great Hall, the City Companies have so far given £70,000, and the London County Council has promised a grant of £450,000. Towards the Library, the Goldsmiths Company have given £50,000, while Sir Samuel Courtauld, besides other gifts, has contributed £70,000 for the housing of the Courtauld Institute.

Towards the Students' Union the Rhodes Trustees have offered £5,000, while, among other gifts, should be mentioned six million crowns from the Czechoslovak Government towards the building of the School of Slavonic Studies.

London University, which is unique in so far as it acts as an examining board for external students and at the same time has its internal or collegiate organisation of teaching colleges in London, has rendered the whole of humanity great cultural services. Its degrees are worked for and won by numerous foreign students, and to mention only one of its world famous faculties there is the School of Economics, acting as a clearing house for the work of students of international relations in all their aspects. It was perhaps as a special acknowledgment of this international character that practically every university throughout the world was represented at the ceremony of the laying of the foundation stone of London University's own home.

THE SURFBOARD GALA

TURNS OUT TO BE A DISAPPOINTMENT

Hong Kong's first surf-board gala was not as well supported as it might have been. Weather and sea conditions were hardly ideal, and bathers who were not taking part in the racing did not assist the organisers with the result that the course on which the different events were carried out was not kept as clear as was really needed.

The competitors lay on the boards and paddled themselves along, with the breast stroke, and as a spectacle the events were hardly what 'the movies' have made us imagine surf-board riding to be.

The results of the events were: Men's Half-mile: 1, W. Butt; 2, W. Lawrence.

Ladies' 100 yards: 1, Miss Maria Rosa; 2, Miss Doris Hunt.

Boys' 100 yards: 1, A. Hfa; 2, N. Lee.

Men's 100 yards: 1, W. Butt; 2, L. Rosa Pereira.

Veterans' 100 yards: 1, W. Tanner; 2, G. P. Lammert.

Ladies' Relay: Only one team faced the starter and they (the V.R.C. entry) had to swim the length of the course.

Men's Relay: 1, V.R.C.; 2, "Unattached" team.

The Conference will hold a three-day session in Shanghai commencing September 3, and the European party will later pay a visit to Japan. Whether they will visit Manchuria is at present uncertain.—Reuter.

DEVELOPMENT OF KWANGSI

NEW INDUSTRIAL PROJECT TO BE UNDERTAKEN

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Aug. 20.
Having made an inspection tour of the factories and industrial plants of Canton, five officials of the Industrial and Commercial Bureau of Nanning will recommend to the Kwangsi Provincial authorities the industrial development of that province on similar lines as in Kwangtung.

While in Canton, these Kwangsi officials visited the government-owned factories, private industrial works, the electric power station, and other industrial enterprises in Canton and vicinity. Mostly foreign educated experts, the five men made a special investigation of such industries as fertiliser, native cloth, tung oil, matches, petroleum, saw, and flour.

Despite geographical and financial handicaps, Kwangsi is pushing forward its reconstruction works and industrial projects. Being administered by the same group of native sons for the past eight years, Kwangsi has been following a persistent course of development such as opening factories to provide native industries and employment to many and building highways to facilitate transportation.

Execution of this plan is possible notwithstanding that the provincial revenue of Kwangsi is about $800,000 a month as compared with the almost $3,000,000 monthly revenue of Kwangtung.

CANTON "SING SONG" GIRLS

TO HELP CHINESE SEAMEN STRIKERS

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Sing-song girls in Chen Tong, the local night resort, have decided to make use of their vocal talent and magnetic charm in raising money to assist the strikers of China Navigation Company, Ltd., as the professional beauties will give a series of musical and vocal concerts at King Wah Restaurant, Chen Tong, from August 24 to September 6.

Including the Chinese crew of the river steamer Fatshan, about 200 employees of the China Navigation Company, Ltd., have been on strike since June 15 as a protest against the dismissal of about 120 tea-boys (i.e. second and third class stewards) employed by the C.N.C. river steamer Woonung. Without any work for over two months, the strikers have to depend upon charity and some meagre help from the Kwangtung Seamen's Union which formed the strike on behalf of the dismissed Woonung crew.

Expressing their profound regard for the strikers, the sing-song girls in a letter to the Seamen's Union last night stated that they would devote the proceeds of the concerts for the relief of the strikers.</

DRAMATIC SCENES AT OLD BAILEY

SCREAMS OF WOMEN GREET PASSING OF SENTENCES

AT CONCLUSION OF FIRE CONSPIRACY TRIAL

London, August 20. There were dramatic scenes at the conclusion of the fire conspiracy trial at Old Bailey, when screams of women relatives greeted the passing of the sentences.

One prisoner, William Herivel a silk merchant aged 69, fainted in the dock when sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment.

The sentences total fifty-one years.

Harris was sentenced to the maximum penalty for arson.

The chief prosecuting Counsel revealed before the sentences were passed that about £270,000 was involved in the claims which were the subject of the indictment.

Insurance companies have repudiated £110,000 of the claims sent in to them.

JUDGE'S SCATHING SUMMING-UP

London, Aug. 19. Sentences ranging from 14 years penal servitude for the leader, Leopold Louis Harris, to four months imprisonment for minor defendants, were today imposed on the 16 men found guilty at the Old Bailey yesterday on charges of conspiracy to cause fires in London in order to defraud insurance companies.

"The lowest depths of infamy were reached when Capson's wretched wife was set to do the actual burning," declared Judge Humphreys, referring to the burning of a silk company's premises in Oxford Street, London, when concluding his remarks after a 13-hour summing up in the London fire conspiracy trial.

The trial, which is the longest ever held in the Old Bailey, came to an end yesterday, when the jury, after a 44-hour retirement found all 16 defendants guilty on a varying number of counts. Sentences will be pronounced today, thus bringing to a close the 61 weeks' hearing.

The jury retired at noon yesterday to consider verdicts dealing with at least 141 counts involved in 14 different fires, alleged to have been started by a "fire-raising gang."

PLEADS GUILTY TO 25 COUNTS
Leopold Louis Harris, who is charged on 32 counts pleaded guilty to 25, including nine charges of arson. Judge Humphreys instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty on the remaining seven charges.

Five other defendants, including Louis Jarvis, pleaded guilty to 48 charges while 10 defendants pleaded not guilty to all charges against them.

A feature of Judge Humphreys' summing-up was his scathing attack on Capson, whom he described as a blackmailer and a highly dangerous criminal, though, he added, it was impossible to prosecute him. His chief regret was that he was unable to pass on Capson the sentence he so richly deserved.

The proceedings are estimated to have cost £50,000 the fees of one counsel alone, together with "refreshers," having amounted to £5,000. The cost of 200 witnesses has also to be met.

BERNIA ALPS TRAGEDY

FOUR ETON MASTERS KILLED

Pat Resina, Aug. 20. The bodies of the four Eton masters now lie on stretchers before the altar in the Church. The funeral will take place on Monday.

The bodies are so badly smashed that the opinion is the victims were killed in the early stage of their eight hundred feet fall.

Party Ship Down Glacier On Roseg Peak.

Pat Resina, Aug. 20. A grim tragedy of the Alps, involving the deaths of four of Eton's most popular masters, one of whom has a brother at Wehale, occurred near here, on Thursday last, when the party, who had made an assault on the treacherous slopes of Roseg Peak, slipped over a precipice and fell several hundred feet into a chasm.

The discovery, yesterday by a guide, of an ice-axe and snow spectacles on the 13,000-foot Roseg Peak in the Bernia Alps, was the first indication of the terrible tragedy which resulted in the deaths of three Eton house-masters, Mr. H. E. H. Howson, Mr. E. V. Slater and Mr. E. W. Powell and one assistant master, Mr. C. R. White-Thomson.

The bodies were seen huddled together at the foot of a dangerous precipice. They had evidently fallen several hundred feet.

The party, all of whom were expert climbers, left Samaden without guides on August 16 on what was intended to be their last expedition before returning to England.

Way Missed.

They spent the night at Clerva Hut on the mountain-side and climbed Roseg Peak on Thursday, but apparently missed the way while descending and slipped on a glacier.

A rescue party was sent out immediately the guide reported the discovery of the bodies, but it was impossible to reach the spot before they were dead.

All four victims were very popular at Eton.

Mr. Powell is a well-known cricketer, having rowed in the Cambridge boat from 1906 to 1908. He also won the Diamond Sculls at Henley in 1912.

Mr. White-Thomson, a science master, is the eldest son of the Bishop of Ely.

Mr. Howson is a grandson of Dr. Hugh Butler, Master of Trinity, while his brother commands a destroyer on the China Station.

None of the victims were married.

Mr. Howson is a brother of Commander J. M. Howson of R. M. B. Wilton, of the 8th. Destroyer Flotilla, which is at present at Wei-hai-wei. Commander Howson has been on the China Station for about four months.

JAPANESE IN SHANHAIKWAN

MR. LIU'S REPORT ON SITUATION

Peiping, Aug. 19. Mr. Liu Shih Shen, a member of the Luanung Retrocession Commission, who went to Shanhaikwan to endeavour to arrange to take over the Shanhaikwan walled city from the Japanese, returned this morning without accomplishing his mission.

Mr. Liu ascribes the Japanese failure to hand over the city to the fact that since General Muto, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese forces in Manchuria, died, there is no responsible person at Changchun to make the decision, as General Hsihikari has not yet arrived.

Mr. Liu also states that the Japanese wish to establish a "telegraph" office at Shanhaikwan and maintain it there even after the retrocession of the City.

PETITIONS POURING IN

Tokyo, Aug. 20. Petition after petition is pouring in to General Araki's office, asking for leniency in the sentences passed on the eleven cadets facing a Court Martial for the assassination of Premier Inukai.

CONFLICT OVER MANCHURIA

AT INSTITUTE OF PACIFIC RELATIONS

Banff, Aug. 20. A conflict has developed over the Manchurian issue at the Institute of Pacific Relations. The Chinese Delegates declared that China would steadfastly refuse to recognise the political entity of Manchukuo. They claimed Manchuria is the logical outlet of China's teeming millions, and Japan's claim to the territory was much weaker.

The Japanese delegates did not expect opposition to the free entry of Chinese, provided some guarantee was given of the friendly nature of their migration.

If the Chinese emigrants adapted themselves to new conditions prevailing in Manchukuo they would probably be welcome.

COMPETITION IN TEXTILE INDUSTRY

During a discussion on competition in the textile industry, a Japanese spokesman maintained that Japan had won the hold over the "lower and middle priced textiles owing to the superiority of their machines, also by centralized management."

The British representatives expected a lower cost of production owing to reorganisation which the industry in Lancashire was at present undergoing. They discounted Japan's claims to superior methods and referred to the effects of the depreciated yen.

It was suggested that quotas and other methods of international adjustment would prevent unfair competition. The British contended that stabilisation of currencies constituted the keynote to the question.

"I TALK PEACE"

Banff, Alberta, Aug. 19. MR. Inazo Nitobe, Chairman of the Japanese group at the Institute of Pacific Relations, which opened here on Monday last under the Chairmanship of Sir Robert Falconer, has denied the statement credited to him that Japan and Russia are preparing for war.

"I talk peace, not war," he declared.

Other Japanese delegates emphasised that Japan did not intend to prepare for war. The policy is definitely one of peace, they assert.

INCREASING ECONOMIC CONFLICTS

BANFF, CANADA, Aug. 14. Restrictions on international intercourse force nations to expand their spheres of influence to obtain self-sufficiency. Inazo Nitobe, Japanese publicist and advisory editor of the Osaka Mainichi, declared at the opening session of the fifth biennial conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

He deplored the increasing economic conflicts throughout the world, and a spirit of "intolerance" between nations.

Reasonable adjustments are necessary in intercourse between nations of varying culture," he said, "but excessive restrictions defeat their own purpose."

Excessive self-sufficiency inevitably persuades the unfortunately situated nations to guarantee their own economic security by adding outside territories to their political orbit."

His Shu, leader of Chinese thought, declared armament rivalries between nations. Evidently referring to recently announced programmes for naval building in the United States and Japan, he said:

"The peace machinery in the Pacific built up for a decade is now scrapped."

Speaking from a British viewpoint, Herbert Samuel said Britain's only interest in the Orient was to promote tranquillity and prosperity.

Sir Robert Falconer of Canada, in welcoming the conference, cited the long American-Canadian friendship as an example to inspire other Pacific nations.

Sir Robert evidently sensed an undercurrent of apprehension at the conference, due to the strained relations between some of the countries represented, despite the mildness of the utterances of speakers.

Leaders were attempting to avoid issues that might threaten to break up the conference.

The question of maintaining an amicable conference appeared a difficult one, as most of the questions of prime importance in the Pacific involve antagonisms or rivalries.

Russia was not represented at the current session, due to the Canadian law barring the admission of Communists.

GERMAN THREAT TO SHIPPING

RESTRICTIONS TO BE WITHDRAWN

LONDON, Aug. 19. A CONFERENCE took place yesterday at the Reich Ministry of Economics between German officials and representatives of foreign shipping companies in Germany, in reference to the recent order under German Foreign Exchange control regulations which had led the Companies to fear that discrimination would be practised in favour of German passenger steamship lines.

The conference was of an harmonious character and representatives of British shipping lines expressed satisfaction with the arrangement, which had been devised to meet criticisms.

Berlin press reports state that the effect of this arrangement will be to remove restrictions on foreign shipping companies' activities.

An official announcement by the Ministry of Economics is to be made later.

GERMAN TRADE UNIONS

The Council stressing the severe setback sustained by international Trades-Unionism owing to the Nazi seizure of German Trade Unions, urges a boycott in the hope of bringing home to the German Government that the crimes committed cannot be condoned.

The boycott must be made so effective that the German people will sweep away the present regime and revert to ways of freedom.

LONDON, Aug. 18. The report states that whatever advantages may have accrued from the amalgamation of Tobago with Trinidad, the former has always been a financial burden to Trinidad since the amalgamation, and Trinidad is strongly adverse from embarking on more experiments in the direction of a closer union with other islands.

PARADES BY "BLUE SHIRTS"

BANNED IN IRISH FREE STATE

Dublin, Aug. 19. THE Minister of Justice yesterday issued a statement declaring that if any uniformed or armed parades of General O'Duffy's "Blue Shirt" organisation are held on Sunday, the organisation will be proclaimed.

General O'Duffy, in announcing, last Monday the postponement of the parade of the Blue Shirts, which was to have taken place last Sunday, said that he was arranging for ceremonies to take place in every county in the Free State on August 20, when Ireland commemorates the deaths of Griffith, Collins and O'Donnell.

CIVIL SERVICE AGAIN IN RACE FOR FIRST LEAGUE HONOURS

The results of the first division lawn bowls matches played on Saturday contained several surprises. To begin with Craigengower, who are two points behind the Bowling Green, with a match in hand lost at home to Club de Recreio. Before the match was over at Happy Valley news came through from Taikoo that the Bowling Green had lost their last match, while, later on it was known that Civil Service, visiting Kowloon Docks had managed to obtain full points.

The position is now as open as ever. Craigengower, due to meet Civil Service and whoever wins will meet the Bowling Green to decide the Championship for the year.

The Police playing at home, registered a conclusive victory over the Kowloon C.C.

In the junior games the Craigengower C.C. is now definitely on top with the Bowling Green and Civil Service fighting for second place. The Bowling Green went down surprisingly to the lowly-placed Yacht Club team on Saturday.

KOWLOON-HOW IT APPEARS AFTER LONG ABSENCE

IMPRESSIONS OF ONE WHO "FORESAW WHAT WAS COMING"

(BY OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT).

To people who have been in the Colony for a very long time, the changes that have taken place in Kowloon are but a matter of course, but to the man who has been away from the Colony for a number of years, it holds a different meaning altogether.

The other day I went out with someone who had just returned after a long spell abroad and as he expressed a wish to see the changes he had read and heard so much about, we went on a tour of inspection in Kowloon. I left the "itinerary" entirely to him and he chose to go out to Kai Tak, "to see the flying field."

We left the ferry wharf and went by way of Nathan Road and Prince Edward Road. When he saw the new buildings around the Peninsula Hotel, he was dumb-founded although he insisted that he was one of the people who foresaw this years and years ago. Then he wanted to see Yau Ma Tei and to Yau Ma Tei we went. Here the new tenement-houses that have replaced the low two-storied buildings of the long ago gave the district such a different aspect that it was hard, at first, to convince my friend that he was in the heart of the old slum area.

We then drove on and soon we were in Shamshui. The "Camp" there, together with all the new houses, according to my friend, had made this district quite a town by itself and he was particularly struck by the fine motor roads. We then decided it was time to turn back to Prince Edward Road. The whole district so impressed my friend that we had to stop the car and walk along the road, in order that he might have a good look at all those beautiful houses. La Salle College made a direct "hit," so much so that he wanted to go into the building but as it was summer vacation time, we eventually decided to leave it till a little later.

Kowloon Tong also made a very good impression and as we were beginning to ride a little faster now, we soon left the garden city behind and once again got into the old, native area. The contrast was "very sharp." A few minutes previously, we might have been in a suburban town in England for all that we had seen, and now—back to China again, China of immemorial antiquity.

The people who live in this survival of the past correspond to their surroundings. This is Chinese country life once more. The women's dresses, particularly, remind one of the Chinese farming people, in the New Territory and beyond, and in point of fact, these people are, most of them, engaged in the cultivation of vegetables and other crops.

Then when we got to Kai Tak we were awakened, so to speak, but "old Kowloon" is nowadays a wonderful mixture of real old China, of typical Hong Kong tenements of twenty years ago and more, and of the new type of big dwelling houses, with concrete floors and stairs. The new is ousting the old—but plenty of the latter still remaining. I think the progress out in this citadel of ancient style China impressed my companion more even than the building of Shamshui on what had once been a swamp.

TAXATION IN FRANCE

CAUSES WIDESPREAD UNREST

Paris—A prolonged clash of conflicting forces is today shaking the very foundations of the existing order in France.

In Paris, a series of recent mass manifestations by merchants and taxpayers provoked a vigorous declaration from M. Edouard Daladier, French Prime Minister, to the effect that "the time is not far off when it will be necessary to defend the Republican regime by action."

In the provinces, discontent and unrest among the peasants and dissatisfaction with their representatives in Parliament has become so acute that many capable observers have compared the situation to that which existed on the eve of the French Revolution.

"Tumultuous uprisings, menaces, violations of the homes of the representatives of the people," M. Daladier declared in a recent speech to the Senate, "all this will be broken. It is not by manifestations in the streets that a difficult situation can be corrected. If the means of suppression now at our disposal prove insufficient, I shall seek other measures to put an end to an intolerable situation."

Property v. Socialization

While this vigorous stand of the Government against excesses committed in connection with the recent agitation is generally approved, a large proportion of the French press has not hesitated to point out its plain terms that more than superficial repression will be needed to end effectively the present deep current of protest.

As the semi-official newspaper, Le Temps, indicates, the Government cannot consistently take any action against the merchants, peasants, rentiers and industrialists who staged organized mass meetings decrying the present excessive tax burdens and demanding economies in public expenditure, when the same Cabinet failed to carry out its avowed intention of punishing those responsible for the strike of public servants or fonctionnaires which took place a few months ago.

These two opposing manifestations—syndicated government employees defiantly resisting any proposed reduction in their pay, and the merchants, producers, retailers and taxpayers demanding that the state institute drastic cuts in its expenditure so as to permit tax reduction—are the crystallized symbols of the fundamental conflict underlying present unrest in France.

Aggravated by Trade Recession

On the one hand, all that is conservative or "bourgeois"—bourgeois taken in the large sense of the word, meaning one who possesses reserves and wishes to protect them—rises up in rigid opposition to the present-day trend of socialization which seeks to subordinate the individual and his possessions to the mass and their demands. Aggravated by the economic depression which only recently began to be severely felt in France, this conflict is now manifesting itself in almost every sphere of French life. Christian Science Monitor.

Yorkshire Beat Middlesex

VICTORY IN TWO DAYS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 1st. Yorkshire won yet another match in two days when they beat Middlesex at Lord's by 10 wickets. An unexpected shower of rain, lasting over an hour, and a splendid innings of 99 by Lee nearly prolonged play into the third day, but Yorkshire never let go the advantage they had gained on the first day. Verity took six more wickets for 49, and they were able to win just before 7 o'clock.

When Yorkshire continued their innings yesterday morning at a quarter past 11 A. B. Sellers and Wood batted with great caution against some good bowling by Hulme, who did not have a run scored off him until, in his fifth over, "Sellers stepped out to one that was a little over-pitched and banged it past mid-off. Sims, at the Nursery, end, was pulled to the boundary by Wood, but only 14 runs came in half an hour. Sellers no doubt felt that an hour or so in the scorching sun would be good for Middlesex before they began their second innings, and largely through his own efforts he kept them in the field for an hour and a quarter.

When the 250 had gone up N. Haig called for the new ball, which he had not asked for on the first evening, and almost at once Wood turned it to square-leg, where Sims held a useful catch. Rhodes, however, caused some trouble. A 4 past mid-on off Haig, who came on to give Sims a short rest, and another to long-leg off Lee, which also had to be run out, helped the score along, and Yorkshire were 180 in front when Rhodes, playing back, was caught at the wicket. Bowes sent up the 300 with a stroke about which he knew very little, but Sellers was then howled attempting a big hit, and Haig did not survive a single ball.

A Useful Lead.

Yorkshire were left with a lead of 186, useful enough, but not so great as it ought to have been against what is really no more than a strong Middlesex Second XI. Sims took all the bowling honours with six wickets for 108, although Hulme bowled well at times on the first day, and again yesterday morning. The weakness of the Middlesex side may be gathered from the fact that of the last four men in the batting order Edwards alone bowled, and he only sent down seven overs.

Middlesex had three-quarters of an hour's batting in the morning and once again they were quickly in trouble, for Sims began to feel for fast balls wide of the off-stump. One that he touched went to Leyland, who dropped it, but in the same over he gave Sellers a catch at cover-point. Lee and Watkins took the score to 36 before the interval and afterwards went on until the total was 77 and Yorkshire were beginning to get anxious. Lee had sent up the 50 by hitting one of the several no-balls sent down by Bowes to long-leg, and when Leyland came on Lee hit his first ball through the covers for 4, and pulled another for four more. Watkins was not always safe with rising balls on the off, but he kept up his end and pluckily for well over an hour before Verity who had dropped him at short-leg in the previous over, quickly made amends for the error by bowling him.

Hendren delighted the crowd with some quick singles, and the hopes of Middlesex were rising when a sudden shower of rain drove the players to shelter for 10 minutes. After two or three more overs further rain at a quarter to 4 held up the game until a quarter past 5.

The score when play was interrupted was 116 for two wickets, and everything depended on how long Lee and Hendren could keep together. Bowes soon settled the question by knocking back Lee's off stump with a ball at which the batsman played much too late, and six runs later a ball from Verity popped up and went off Hendren's glove to slip. When Price was run out immediately afterwards, half the side was out for 140, and it was obvious that nothing but the weather could save Middlesex. The latter batsmen hit out with varying degrees of success, and luck, and the innings lasted until half-past 6.

As Yorkshire needed only 27 to win the extra half-hour was allowed and the runs were only obtained.

ENGLAND v. THE REST

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 1st. After a good day's cricket on the Leicester County Ground, England beat The Rest by 94 runs. This was the first match of the kind ever to be played and a good number of spectators were present.

Miss A. Bull, the English captain, won the toss and sent in Miss MacLagan and Miss Snowball. With the score at 39, Miss MacLagan was bowled off her pads, and Miss Hide and Miss Snowball took the score to 190 before they were parted. With her score at 62, Miss Snowball was stumped. With runs of several batsmen in their endeavour to score rapidly, lost their wickets, but Miss Hide nearly reached her century. At 99, however, she mistimed a stroke and was easily caught at point. She played well, making some grand drives and cuts, and it was a keen disappointment to all when she was out. Miss Bull declared the innings closed at 201 for six. This left three hours for The Rest to make the runs.

None of The Rest's batsmen could really master the bowling of Miss Valentine, Miss Straker, Miss MacLagan, and Mrs. Holden, and the whole side was out for 107.

JAPAN'S FOREIGN TRADE

DOING WELL NOW BUT WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Tokyo.—Although Japan's foreign trade is confronted with many obstacles, it is generally believed that the present favourable situation will be retained for the time being. Raw silk exports are unlikely to drop, while raw cotton imports are expected to dwindle.

As already noted, trade for the first ten days of August totalled ¥98,208,000; ¥57,228,000 in exports and ¥38,980,000 in imports, showing a favourable balance of ¥18,248,000. Compared with the previous eleven days, exports represent a drop of only ¥3,144,000, while imports indicate as heavy a shrinkage as ¥11,328,000. The balance, therefore, shows an improvement of ¥8,184,000.

Obstacles Still in the Future. There are growing signs of measures being taken by Britain's overseas possessions to oust Japanese goods. In the Dutch East Indies, as already noted, a bill is now before the legislature, to provide for the Government authority to restrict imports from countries where currency values are depreciated. Japan's export trade is thus confronted with many obstacles, but as they are not yet matters of reality, little material effect has so far been felt. Nor is the effect likely to appear in the immediate future.

Good Orders For Raw Silk.

Much discussion has been made about the possible taxation in America on raw silk in order to make it compare with the raw cotton processing tax. Subsequent reports, however, are not very discouraging. The American markets have been at a low ebb in the past week or two as a reaction from the recent boomlet. In anticipation of higher prices in the near future, however, there is a ceaseless flow of orders for raw silk. The outlook is not at all pessimistic.

Drop In Cotton Imports. A seasonal drop was seen in the import trade. Raw cotton imports, for instance, were nearly

JAPAN'S WOOL PROBLEM

Proposed Treaty With Australia

FOREIGN OFFICE ATTITUDE

Tokyo.—With a view to discussing the national policy for the supply of wool, Count Uchida, Minister for Foreign Affairs, is to invite many leading importers and weavers to his official residence on next Friday (18th instant). Much importance is being directed to this conference, particularly in view of the strained trade relations between Japan and Britain.

Australia to Increase Tariff.

The Japanese Government, it is said, has been in negotiation with the Australian Government for the conclusion of a commercial treaty. In consideration of the Empire economic bloc, however, the latter Government is hanging back. The rumour is now rife that the Australian Government will shortly increase the tariff on Japanese goods. The whole situation is now highly threatening. Japanese weavers, who at present depend solely in Australian wool, may face a grave crisis at any moment.

Britain is said to be greatly concerned with the activity of Japanese wool traders, equally as she is with that of Japanese cotton spinners. When the British Cotton Mission visited Japan three years ago, many members of the Mission made a personal inspection of the wool industry and formed a view that Japan would soon be a formidable competitor of Britain in the wool trade. There is reason to believe, the Japanese press says, that the Commission on its return home resorted to various moves. It is generally surmised, therefore, that the question of supplying raw materials to Japan wool-weavers will eventually come to the fore.

Japan must be prepared for eventualities. The plan which the Department for Foreign Affairs has in mind is the import of South American wool. The Osaka Shosen Kaisha has just reduced its freight rate for that wool and is ready to do everything in its power to encourage the import.

Manchurian Wool.

The plan of the Foreign Department makes an interesting contrast with that of the Department for Overseas Affairs, which aims at the sheep-raising in Manchuria on a large scale. Wool traders have agreed, as already reported to establish a semi-official organ for that purpose, with a total fund of ¥2,000,000.

The Department for Foreign Affairs evidently believes that the present plan will greatly assist in holding Australia in check. Australia at present exports over ¥100,000,000 worth of wool, 620,000 bales in average, to Japan each year, while the imports only ¥30,000,000 from Japan. With the balance of its trade in such a state, Australia will come to consider it unwise to refuse the Japanese proposal for the conclusion of a commercial treaty, for the mere reason of the Empire economic bloc.

British at Work in Australia.

A message received here says that the Australian Government is taking a very cautious attitude in regard to the demanded action against Japanese goods, for fear of a retaliatory action by Japan.

The British Chamber of Commerce there, the report adds, is playing an important role in the movement for an imposition of an anti-dumping duty on Japanese goods. British manufacturers of rubber shoes, cotton goods and electric bulbs are highly antagonistic towards Japanese articles. The Japanese Chambers of Commerce in Sydney and Melbourne, on the other hand, are opposing such tariff increase.

The suggestion in Japan that to combat the British Empire economic bloc she should boycott Australian wool is evidently responsible for the present cautious attitude of the Australian Government, concludes the report.

half. Unable to form any idea as to the effect of the coming Indo-Japanese Conference in Simla on the present boycott of Indian cotton, spinners have restricted their cover to immediate needs, and are expected to do so for some time to come. The expiration of the Indo-Japanese Trade Convention in October, as well as the expected passage of the Import Restriction Bill in the Dutch East Indies, admits of little optimism by Japanese spinners. In the circumstances, while exports will retain the present position, if not see an increase, imports will continue to decline, it is surmised in many quarters. Japan Chronicle.

L'ATLANTIQUE

DAMAGES

HOPE THAT REPAIRS ARE POSSIBLE

Further details are now available of the damage sustained by the Compagnie de Navigation Sud-Atlantique's liner, L'Atlantique, particularly with reference to the possibility of repairs. It will be recalled that the question of reconditioning or total loss is one of the principal points at issue between the owners and the underwriters of the ship.

The surveyors appointed by the Tribunal de Commerce de la Seine have proved themselves very competent in carrying out the necessary examination and fulfilling the highest expectations of those who appointed them, in so far as they are obtaining all the available information as to the condition of the vessel.
